About The Royal Parks

The Royal Parks is the charity that exists to make sure London's eight historic royal parks will always be there to enrich the lives of local residents and visitors to London.

This recently-created charity does this by:

- Sensitively and sustainably protecting and conserving the heritage landscapes of the parks
- Adding value to every visit by providing information and opportunities to find out more about the historic significance of the parks and the wildlife that lives in them today
- Supporting and encouraging the development of biodiversity in the parks
- Encouraging visitors to support their physical and mental health by using the parks for relaxation and exercise

It costs around £40m a year to manage the parks. The charity raises around 75 per cent of this money itself, with the remaining 25 per cent coming from Government.
